Medicine has made great progress in the past fifty years. People live longer, even if it costs them more.

The National Park Service will be asked to reconsider its decision to abandon the rebuilding and restoration of Old Appomattox Court House Building. News that the Old Court House buildin had been withdrawn from the budget and program of the Park Service, aroused a wave of interest over the state.

Fourth District Representative W. M. Abbitt, of Appomattox, has arranged for an official of the Park Service to attend a public meeting here on Friday night, March 3, at 8 o'clock, in the new court house. Interested organizations and individuals are invited to this open meeting.

Numerous resolutions advocating rebuilding of the Old Court House have been adopted this week., and Appomattox has won widespread support from nearby areas for the completion of the Old Court House restoration. Many have felt that in the light of the Civil War Centennial Years, now already underway, that Appomattox should have a bit of priority, and receive major consideration from the Park Service. Untold thousands of visitors will be coming to Virginia during the Centennial Years, and many will desire to visit the spot where Gen. R. E. Lee and Gen. U. S. Grant made a famed "gentleman's Peace" on April 9, 1865. That event has been referred to as "the finest single episode in American history." And it is associated with the name: "Appomattox Court House." Not to have the "Court House" makes a disappointing situation for the visitors who come here from all over the nation. Although Lee and Grant actually met in the private residence of Wilmer McLean, the Old Court House is a crucial factor in the Restoration and Rebuilding, in the eyes of the public. It was there, beside of the formal laying down of arms, and was a never-to-be-forgotten memory of those gallant Confederates who marched up the hill from the Appomattox River behind the immortal Gen. John B. Gordon to make their Peace. Surviving pictures, show Civil War soldiers in rest by fences at the Old Court House. It was the center of the Old Village. The road encircled it, the county jail, incomplete at the time of The Peace, was one side, the McLean, Peers House, and other structures nearby, the Tavern facing it, and the small store, the law offices, the smithy shop, all as supplements to the vital building in the Village: The Court House.

Over 100,000 visitors a year now come here, to see "Old Appomattox Court House" and the McLean residence, and other associated shrines. It had been "taken for granted that the Court House would be rebuilt, well in the beginning of the Civil War Centennial. It was burned in 1892. Exact blueprints are not available, but enough is known to have an acceptable period structure.

Friends of Appomattox, and of its historical meaning are rallying to a stout protest that rebuilding of the Old Court House be re-inserted in current Park Service plans, and the meeting on Friday night, March 3, may be just one of a series of efforts to promote the importance of Appomattox as a shrine, long neglected, but none the less vital to a true understanding of American history. The Christian concept of Peace has few shrines to compare to Old Appomattox Court House.

OBITUARY

MR. W. H. BROWN

William Henry Brown, an outstanding citizen of this community and counties surrounding, passed away in Virginia Baptist Hospital Feb. 2, 1961. He had been in declining health for three years or more. He was born Nov. 15,1884, in Appomattox County, near Hollywood. He was the son of the late Conrad R. Brown and the late Mrs. Sarah Brown Edmondson.

His father was a Union soldier and fought in the 91st Pennsylvania Infantry, under Gen. Grant. His mother was a loving, kind-hearted dearly known Virginia lady, who lived to a nice age of 87.

Mr. Brown lived near Hollywood, Va. all his life. He was married to a beautiful fine young lady, Mary Ruth Franklin, Oct. 5, 1968, at Chestnut Grove Church.

Mr. Brown was a faithful and devoted husband and father to his family as well as to his fellowman. He was always willing to share, give and aid, to his loved ones, neighbors, friends and fellowman.

A member of Hollywood Baptist Church, he trusted, loved and served the Lord to the best of his power.

Funeral services were conducted from Hollywood Baptist Church Sunday, Feb. 5, Rev. Winfred Elder, assisted by Dr. Twyman Williams, officiated.

A minister in a southern town is said to have taken leave of his congregation in the following manner: Brethrens and sisters, I come to say good-by. I don't think God loves this church, because none of you ever dies. I don't think you love each other because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me because you never pay my salary. I am going to prepare a place for you. I have been called to be chaplain of the penitentiary, and may the Lord have mery on your souls.

Town To Seek New Industry

To the Citizens of The Town of Appomattox:

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council was held Monday, Feb. 20, at 7:30 P. M., in the Town Office. The regular order of business was transacted.

Two of the Appomattox business men appeared before the Council and requested the Council to start a movement toward trying to get some new industry located here. This item of business was discussed at length, and I can assure you that your town officials are back of the idea one hundred per cent, and are going to do everything within their power to help further this cause in every way possible. The Council has requested that your Mayor appoint a special "Industry and Commerce Committee," to look into the development of new industry. I certainly hope to get this committee appointed within the next few days.

The Council approved approximately one hundred thousand dollars worth of new building permits. Some of these were for dwellings, and some for commercial buildings. I was most gratified over this, for I think it certainly proves to us all that 'Appomattox is a growing town.'

Let me take just a moment to bring a Town Ordinance to the attention of all of you good people. There is an ordinance on the books which requires that all lund owners have the snow removed from all sidewalks bordering on their property within twelve hours after it has stopped snowing. I further realize that sometimes this may work some hardships, but let's everyone bear this in mind in the future and do our best to carry our part of the burden. Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated by all concerned.

Your counsel and advice on all public matters is welcomed at all times.

Sincerely,
C. T. Moore, Jr.
Mayor, Town of Appomattox.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

The Appomattox Junior Woman's Club will sponsor a basketball game for the benefit of the Dental Clinic. The game will be played on March 11th in the high school gymnasium at 7:30 P. M. The first game will find the Junior Woman's Club matched against the Senior Womans Club and the second game will feature the Lions Club of Appomattox playing the Appomattox County Junior Chamber of Commerce. All proceeds from this game will go to support the dental clinic sponsored by the Junior Womans Club.

In 1958 the Junior Womans Club of Appomattox began what they call their Dental Clinic project, which consists of providing dental care to the underprivileged school-aged children of Appomattox County. Through the cooperation and help of Dr. S. R. Lawson and Dr. C. R. Jones, the Junior Woman's Club over the past three years has provided dental care to approximately 75 children at a cost of a little over $400.

At the present time, the club reports five children who are in need of dental care, which it is hoped may be provided for them out of the proceeds netted from the basketball game.

The club feels that the public would like to have a part in this worthwhile project, and do so in an enjoyable way, by attending this basketball game on March 11.
—Mrs. Ed Cawthorne, chairman,
Ways and Means Committee.
